

WHAT COULD YOUR FUNDRAISING PAY FOR?

£100

could bring an expert speaker to a Living with Secondary Breast Cancer group. They can share key information with people who have metastatic (secondary) breast cancer online and in person.

£250

could pay for a patient advocate to visit a researcher.

Patient advocates are crucial in lending their voice and experience to research. They can help with the design of forms and surveys – allowing researchers to increase uptake on clinical trials and understand what patients need.

£300

could help 10 people get answers by calling our free helpline.

No question is too big or small. And all calls are answered by breast care nurses and trained staff.

£400

could fund 2 online Moving Forward sessions for up to 12 people.

Moving Forward is our course for people finishing primary breast cancer treatment. It's a chance to connect with others going through the same thing. And get the tools to feel more confident and in control.

could keep the Breast Cancer Now Biobank open for 1 hour.

It's a crucial resource storing thousands of breast cancer tissue samples. And by using these real tissues, our scientists can find new ways to prevent and treat breast cancer, so we can stop it from taking lives.
