The Breast Cancer Now golf day

16 May 2024

EVERY YEAR, 55,000 WOMEN AND 400 MEN HEAR THE DEVASTATING NEWS THAT THEY HAVE BREAST CANCER.

1 IN 7 WOMEN IN THE UK WILL DEVELOP BREAST CANCER IN THEIR LIFETIME. AND MORE PEOPLE ARE BEING DIAGNOSED THAN EVER BEFORE.

That's why Breast Cancer Now is here.

Their life-changing support is here, whatever you're going through. Whether you're worried about breast cancer. Living with or beyond treatment. Supporting someone you love. Breast Cancer Now is the place to turn, with a nurse-led helpline, tailored courses and 24/7 online support.

Their world-class research is here, giving hope for the future. Breast Cancer Now have invested over £268 million in research so far, to find ways to prevent, diagnose and treat breast cancer. And ultimately, save lives.

MIKE PHILLIPS

The former Welsh Rugby Union star became an ambassador for Breast Cancer Now in 2014. As well as organising the Mike Phillips golf day, he's raised money for the charity by climbing Mount Snowdon. He's also helped launch a number of events on behalf of the charity, including World Cancer Day and the 25th anniversary of the Pink Ribbon.

For men's health week, he let the charity take over his Instagram account, helping to launch the men's board on the Breast Cancer Now forum.

“Raising awareness and letting people know that Breast Cancer Now is there to support anyone affected by the disease is a real honour. Around 400 men are diagnosed with breast cancer each year in the UK, which I didn't realise until I became an ambassador. So I do all I can to highlight this. As an avid golfer, I can't think of a better way to spend the day than raising money for this amazing charity”.

It staged a World Golf Championship event in 2006, won by Tiger Woods, and hosted the British Masters in 2016. The course is open to all who love the game; there is no membership policy. Join the greats of the game at a venue that has been recognised for its commitment to the environment, women in golf and outstanding service.
