BINGO

How to play

1. Choose how much you are going to charge people to play. This should be the same for everyone - we suggest you charge a £2 participation fee, but you can charge anything up to £8.
2. Print each player a bingo card (or two), making sure that everyone playing has a different card.
3. Use a random number generator to choose numbers between 1-75, or if you're really getting into the spirit of things number some ping pong balls or pieces of paper.
4. Let everyone know to shout 'bingo' if they are the first person to get a horizontal, vertical, and diagonal line, and finally a full house!
5. Draw the numbers and play- you can play just for fun or decide a small prize for each line and full house.

Please remember - this game should be used in person and as part of an event, like an Afternoon Tea games night.
