

FESTIVE FUNDRAISING IDEAS

BREAST CANCER
NOW The research
& care charity

Log fires and cosy catch ups with family and friends – its winter and the festive time of year. There's so much you can do to revel in the season, all for a great cause.

However you choose to fundraise, don't forget to follow current government guidelines on social distancing and meeting others outside your household.

CHRISTMAS JUMPER DAY

Dust off the Rudolph jumpers or dig out the Santa suits. Have a festive dress up day with friends, family or colleagues. You can ask all those participating for a donation – or even have a forfeit for those not modelling seasonal attire.

HAPPY QUIZMAS

Organise a quiz night but give it a festive twist with themed question rounds and prizes. You could even have Santa Claus as the quiz master.

SEASONAL SUPPER

Throw a Christmas themed dinner party with all the trimmings and ask for donations to join. Or how about doing an alternative dinner party by hosting a curry night or a Mexican fiesta?

REINDEER RAMBLE

Challenge yourself to do a sponsored walk in fancy dress as a reindeer, snowman or another festive get-up. You can ask everyone to vote for what costume you'll wear by making a donation.

WRAP ME UP

Offer a present wrapping service to friends and family in return for donations. Or to really get into the spirit of winter crafts, why not hold a winter decoration making session? You could even sell what you make as the perfect personal festive gift.

MINCE PIE BAKE OFF

Ask your friends and family to bake mince pies, or any other festive favourite, and have a bake off competition with a prize for the best. You can sell the remaining treats to make some extra funds.

CREATIVE CHRISTMAS

Host a winter fair in your community with gifts and seasonal goodies – anything from mince pies to glittery baubles. You could even raise a bit more by playing some themed games. Pin the nose on the reindeer, anyone?

WE NEED TO ACT NOW

From all of us here at Breast Cancer Now, thank you for signing up to fundraise with us this festive period. It's hard to say just how important your support is to us – it means we can carry on providing life-changing care and do even more world-class breast cancer research.

Right now, that couldn't be more important. 55,000 women and 370 men are diagnosed with breast cancer each year in the UK, and 600,000 more are living beyond the disease across the country. It's our mission to be there for each and every one, providing support for today and hope for the future. So we can't wait to see how you get involved this festive period. Reindeer runs or wrapping services, mince pie baking or festive quizzes – whatever you choose to do, you'll be helping us to be there for anyone affected by breast cancer.

Good luck. You're going to do brilliantly.
