

POSSIBLE SIGNS OF SECONDARY BREAST CANCER

It's not possible to list all the symptoms of secondary breast cancer.

Tell your breast care nurse or GP if you have any symptoms that are new, don't have an obvious cause and don't go away.

THINGS LIKE...

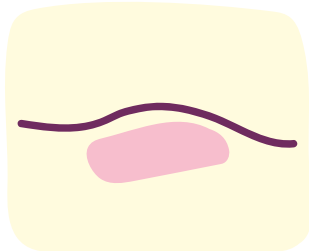

feeling sick
most of the time

severe or ongoing
headaches

a dry cough or feeling of breathlessness

any lumps or swellings under your arm,
breastbone or
collarbone

discomfort or swelling under the ribs or across the upper abdomen

loss of balance
or any weakness
or numbness
of the limbs

pain in your bones, for example in the back, hips or ribs,
that doesn't get better with pain
relief and may be worse at night

feeling much more tired than usual

altered vision
or speech

unexpected
weight loss and a
loss of appetite
